

QR Code Scam Warning Notice

Advisory for canteens, unit family welfare meetings and notice boards.

HOW THE QR TRAP WORKS

A fraudster posing as a buyer (often 'an army officer being posted out') agrees to buy your sofa, car or fridge on a resale app without bargaining. To 'send the advance', they share a QR code and insist you scan it and enter your UPI PIN. Scanning a QR and entering a PIN NEVER credits money - it debits your account. Victims are often made to repeat the process 'because the first transfer failed', losing money multiple times in minutes.

Scanning a QR code + entering UPI PIN = MONEY LEAVES YOUR ACCOUNT. There is no such thing as a code that pays you.

FIELD RULES

1. Receive money using only your UPI ID or account number - never via a QR sent to you.
2. A PIN is needed only to PAY. If you are receiving, no PIN is ever required.
3. Treat 'army officer' profiles on OLX-style apps as fake until they meet in person.
4. Do not accept payment screenshots as proof - check your own bank app.
5. Never approve unknown 'collect requests' in your UPI app.
6. Report fake profiles in the app, then on cybercrime.gov.in.

IF YOU SCANNED AND PAID

1. Call 1930 within the Golden Window (first 60 minutes).
2. Raise a fraud complaint in the UPI app and with your bank.
3. File on cybercrime.gov.in with the QR image, UPI reference number and the fraudster's number.
4. Inform unit security staff so the alert reaches other families.
